USDJPY Consolidating Near Key 110 Level Ahead of CPI

The USDJPY is consolidating just shy of the psychologically key 110 whole figure level ahead of today's US CPI data release at 830am EST. Significantly, the USDJPY has been extending the weekly chart upchannel for roughly 2 months but hesitating as seen by much of this price action hugging along upchannel support. Any weekly close above 110 dramatically increases the odds of a test of the 2021 high in the week or so after. The weekly and daily Stochastics and MACD appear to be tiring. I will look to go long in the green zone (of the daily chart), targeting the red zone for Wednesday. The amber/yellow zone is where I might place a stop if I was a swing trader (although in my personal account with which I seldom hold overnight I sometimes set my stops tighter).

USDCAD Weekly/Daily/4hr

The USDCAD has been trying to bounce off the psychologically key 1.2 whole figure level in the past month, and is beginning to make progress as seen by the green weekly candle body growing. Significantly, before bulls get excited, they'll want to see a weekly close above the May high, the weekly chart downchannel resistance and the psychologically key 1.25 whole figure level. The weekly, daily and 4hr RSI, Stochastics and MACD are bottomish, rallying or consolidating recent gains. I am looking to enter long in the green zone (of the daily chart), targeting the red zone for Wednesday. The amber/yellow zone is where I might place a stop if I was a swing trader (although in my personal account with which I seldom hold overnight I sometimes set my stops tighter).

Soybean (ZS) Weekly/Daily/4hr

Soybean (ZS) is seeing a bit of short covering today ahead of the highly anticipated WASDE release at noon EST. Significantly, although ZS could very well retest this week's (or even the May) high in the hour after WASDE, odds are moderately high for a lower June high to form today versus the May high. Given the immense volatility typically seen in the 24hrs after WASDE, bulls should not rule out a retest of the psychologically key 1500 whole figure level by early next week. Before bears get excited, they'll want to see a weekly close below the weekly chart upchannel support and the May low. Congratulations to Premium Members alerted Aug 24th to ZS remaining in play for a pending rally continuation and who benefited. The weekly RSI, Stochastics and MACD are tiring. I am going to look to short in the red zone (of the daily chart), targeting the green zone for Wednesday. The amber/yellow zone is where I might place a stop if I was a swing trader (although in my personal account with which I seldom hold overnight I sometimes set my stops tighter).

Coffee Daily

Robusta Coffee (RC) Weekly/Daily/Intra
 Robusta Coffee (RC) surged another 2% plus yesterday, closing at uptempered resistance (on the fib chart). Significantly, RC has decisively broken above horizontal resistance (defined on the weekly chart by the October 2019 low), and is suddenly within a week or so's validity of directional resistance (on the weekly chart). Nevertheless, after the powerful bounce in the past few weeks, RC has limited upside potential in the next few days as it bumps up against uptempered resistance (on the daily chart). Longer term bulls will accumulate on any notable dips in the balance of this week with anticipation rising for a potential break (in the September contract) of the weekly chart directional resistance. Regardless of any profit-taking these next few days, RC has now formed a higher daily high versus the low high, with a higher July low (versus the June low) all but certain. The weekly, daily and 4hr RSI, Stochastics and MACD are rallying or consolidating recent gains. I am looking at going long in the green zone (of the daily chart in the ~1200-1300 range), targeting the red zone for Tuesday (in the ~1310-1330 range). The amber/yellow zone (in the ~1245-1265 range) is where I might place a stop if I was a swing trader (although in my personal account with which I seldom hold overnight I sometimes set my stops tighter).

Arabica Coffee (AC) Weekly/Daily/Intra
 Arabica Coffee (AC) rebounded more than 2% yesterday, closing just shy of down-trend/wedge resistance (on the daily chart). Significantly, AC closed back above the psychologically key 1 whole figure level, and is now retesting the horizontal resistance (on the weekly chart) defined by the May 2019 low, and retested last August, October and February 2020. A weekly close above this horizontal resistance will coincide or be followed in the few days after with a reclamation of the July high and a reset of the weekly chart descending wedge resistance. Oils are suddenly rising for a reset of the 2020 high before year-end (although unlikely with the September contract). The weekly, daily and 4hr RSI, Stochastics and MACD are bottomish, rallying or consolidating recent gains. I am flat after profitably closing long yesterday and am looking at re-entering long in the green zone (of the daily chart in the ~1500-1520 range), targeting the red zone (of the daily chart in the ~1530-1550 range) for Tuesday. The amber/yellow zone (in the ~1470-1490 range) is where I might place a stop if I was a swing trader (although in my personal account with which I seldom hold overnight I sometimes set my stops tighter).
